

Pears' Soap

Skin blemishes, like foul teeth, are the more offensive because they are mostly voluntary.

The pores are closed. One cannot open them in a minute; he may in a month.

Try plenty of soap, give it plenty of time, and often; excess of good soap will do no harm. Use Pears'—no alkali in it; nothing but soap.

All sorts of stores sell it, especially druggists; all sorts of people are using it.

There will be no war. The jobbers are balked.

Texas has a great future ahead of her, but she will have to scramble like thunder to get hold of it.

The silver question will prove to be the poorest political mascot that ever struck Texas. Mark the prediction.

In the coming campaign in Texas the Hill boomers will get lost in the shuffle. So mote it be, and THE NEWS will furnish a part of the "motor."

The sixshooter must go. It is a pity that it feels compelled to take a human life with it when an attempt is made to obey the gubernatorial mandate.

Texas ought to make it her business to defeat Hill for the Democratic nomination. The party of the people cannot win with such a consummate spoilsman as Hill at the helm.

The Chilean war scream hit the Democratic house unawares and national pride got the better of the judgment of the representatives in a measure. But in this instance, as in many others, an "unknown power" came to the rescue.

The Tyler Democrat-Reporter says:

Free trade and free silver makes good platform as far as it goes, but there are other issues, too. The tariff is still an issue.

The esteemed Tyler hyphenation doesn't know of course that a free trade platform would make the tariff issues red hot. This is the kind of "fool friends" Chilton has.

PEACE REIGNS IN SPITE OF HARRISON.

Chile has agreed to withdraw the offensive Matta letter and the demand for Egan's re-call, submit the Baltimore outrage to arbitration, and the Republicans are the most thoroughly disappointed people on this earth. THE NEWS printed yesterday a synopsis of the president's message ringing with jingoism from end to end. True several of our sailors were mobbed in the streets of Valparaiso by the citizen toughs thereof, who had become enraged at the Americans and everything resembling their uniform, by reason of the conduct of Minister Egan, who turned the American legation into an asylum for the enemies of the new government. If President Harrison had desired a settlement in a peaceful way he would, if not willing to wait the slow process of the Chilean investigation of the Baltimore affair, have suggested arbitration. This did not suit his purpose however. He was satisfied that something must turn up to create a sentiment in his favor or he would probably lose the Republican nomination and if that was secured he saw defeat staring him in the face. As nothing had turned up he proceeded to turn something up and his war message is the trump card. THE NEWS wishes to remind the Democrats of Texas that the Republicans were not alone, in a desire to stir up a war with Chile. That wing of the Democratic party which delights to glorify Hill of New York and down Mills of Texas, lead by the New York Sun is just as eager to fly to the rescue of the nations honor in this little affair with Chile as are the Republicans. They are willing to even scrape up a scrap with the little bantam Republic just emerging from a bitter internecine war; a republic, the entire area of which is less in square miles than the state of Texas, and whose population is but little, if any, more. A republic with a standing army of only 5,000 men and a limited credit, whose national guard, including nearly every man in the country fit for service, of only 50,000 men. This is the country with which the Republicans and their Democratic allies in every scheme to increase the debt of this country in order to perpetuate the excuse for excessive taxation, desire war. The difficulty with Chile has already cost this country millions of dollars, possibly, because of the acceptance without test of several cruisers. THE NEWS desires to emphasize the warning that the jobbers and political tricksters who laid Mills out in the speakership fight are "in it" without regard to the interests of the people.

The New York World correspondent in Washington city interviewed 33 members of the Democratic National Executive committee as to who they preferred for presidential candidate Cleveland or Hill, and which was the most popular with their people. Out of the thirty-three fifteen were for Cleveland, seven for Hill, two for Gorman, one for Palmer and eight non-committal. Sixteen of the Democratic senators were also interviewed the same day and asked the same question. Five were for Cleveland, one for Gorman, one for Hill and ten non-committal. The Texas senators were two of the ten.

Working the "Matty" Tariff.

EL PASO, Tex., Jan. 27.—As predicted in former dispatches, the mint export duty on Mexican ores has been the means of interesting capital in putting up sampling works at Juarez. B. Salazar of Sonora is here, and through a relative holding an official position in the government service, it is said, has secured the right to put in sampling works across the river and with influence at the head of the government hopes to arrange matters so that the customs collector can accept his certificate of assay in lieu of one from the mint at Chihuahua. The plant contemplated will have a capacity sufficient to sample all ores received at Juarez, which will cut off the supply to the sampling works established on this side of the Rio Grande. The shipper has no choice as to where and by whom his ore shall be treated, as this export duty necessitates the sampling being done in Mexico before clearing papers can be completed.

A Ranger's Sure Aim.

ALPINE, Tex., Jan. 27.—Captain Frank Jones of the ranger force was called to Marathon a few days since to investigate a sheep stealing case on a large scale, and when he arrived there he was told that Mr. Ney had lost some 2000 head and that the thieves were with the sheep somewhere in the mountains. Captain Jones proceeded to investigate and found three Mexicans in the hills whom he felt sure were the men responsible for the loss of the sheep and demanded their surrender, when one of the three proceeded to draw his pistol to fire on the rangers. Daniels, one of the rangers, was a little quicker than the Mexican and fired first and killed the belligerent. The other Mexicans were arrested and brought here and put in jail.

Breckenridge's Resolutions.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Mr. Breckenridge of Kentucky in the house Tuesday morning asked for the immediate consideration of the following resolutions: Resolved, that the president of the United States be respectfully requested to inform the house whether an answer has been received either from our minister to Chile or from the Chilean government to the dispatch sent by the government of the United States of Jan. 21. If so, by whom such answer was received and at what time, and that he will communicate to the house all correspondence between the governments communicated to the conference, with the message heretofore sent in.

Boomer from Boston.

CHILLICOTHE, Mo., Jan. 27.—F. L. Boomer, the traveling man who was assaulted at Burlington, Io., and who claims to live in this city, came here three weeks ago and made the acquaintance of Miss Stella Sealey of this city. Last Wednesday the couple eloped and went to Trenton, where they were married on Thursday. They returned here on Friday and Boomer left for Iowa that day, his wife remaining here. He claims to hail from Boston and says his father is wealthy. While here he claimed to be a horse buyer.

Garza Revolution Sized Up.

EL PASO, Tex., Jan. 27.—The leading cities in Mexico are denouncing in most bitter terms the sensational newspaper correspondents along the border and declare that but for them, the Garza revolution would have passed from mind long since.

In an interview with Senor Candado, formerly mayor of Juarez but now a deputy in the state legislature of Chihuahua, he said that the government entertained no fears of a revolution, that Garza and his band are badly disorganized, scattered, in want and without means to provide for the necessities of life. He acknowledged that Mexico was moving her troops to the more important cities along the border, but this he declares but a precautionary measure and not prompted by a fear that the revolutionary spirit is spreading and might become serious.

The newspapers of the United States, he continued, have done more harm to Mexico in giving credence and importance to sensational rumors than Garza and his followers could accomplish in a year of border skirmishing. Mexico has heretofore been a favorite winter resort for people from the states, but the pen pictures of correspondents of the unsettled and revolutionary spirit pervading Mexico has intimidated tourists and the result is that but comparatively few have ventured south of the Rio Grande this season and where there were thousands in previous years they number less than hundreds now. He compares the Garza movement with the Cincinnati riots, the Haymarket affair at Chicago, the disturbances during the railroad strike in St. Louis and the troubles on the Pacific coast caused by the sand-lotters, claiming that the United States had as much to fear from a revolution at those periods as Mexico has at any time from Garza.

The late Alden Goldsmith declared that he had carefully measured the stride of Gloster when going at full speed and found it to be twenty-three feet. If a horse could take two strides of twenty-three feet each in a second and keep it up for a mile his time would be 1:54 4-5.
